

MONTANA
STATE UNIVERSITY

Department of Psychology

THE COLLEGE OF LETTERS AND SCIENCE

DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY

Science For Future Careers

The Department of Psychology is committed to empowering students with a range of academic and real-world experiences. With a Bachelor's degree (B.S.), a Doctorate of Philosophy (Ph.D) degree, and an undergraduate minor in Psychology, you have the opportunity to pursue your passions and make a difference in the world.

Who are we?

The Department of Psychology strives to support students in the exploration, discovery, and dissemination of new knowledge in psychological science. We aim to serve the people and communities of Montana by sharing our expertise and collaborating with others.

What can you expect?

Undergraduate Research

Students can gain invaluable hands-on research experience by working in on of our many departmental research labs

Community Internships

Find positions within the community and earn college credit! Gain real-world experience in a career before graduation.

Graduate Opportunities

Areas of study include; cognitive, developmental, health, learning, physiological, social, and more!

GET IN TOUCH

(406) 994-6052

psychology@montana.edu
montana.edu/psychology/

Main Office
325 Traphagen Hall